

The radio station KLOVE is vital to our local community and our state. It provides a positive alternative to radio and is funded solely by listeners. What a public disservice it would be to exclude any public listener supported radio station from the airwaves or restrict them in any way. If they have enough support to stay on the air as they are - the airwaves should be available to them.

Sincerely,
Lynn Rode11